CHURCH NOTES.

BY-APPOINTHENT

Before Christ came to earth, only for a brief time of one day in each year was the High Priest allowed to enter into the Hely of Holies to off sacrifices. Then he foreshadowed the time when the Lamb of God should offer Himself and His Blood for th Atonement of the sins of the World In the Epistle, St. Paul tells us that we only serve God through grace of that Sacrifice; unless we realise our unworthiness and plead its merits our efforts are in vain. Every time we approach God in the Holy Communion it must be with thankful remembrance of that Atonement.

"We here present, we here spread forth to Thee That only Offering, perfect in Thine eyes,

IRISH PEACE!

LONDON, March 31st. In the House of Commons whilst debating on the House of Lords amendments to the Irish Treaty Bill, Mr. Churchill paid a tribute to the courage and goodwill of Sir. James Craig and his colleagues at a most critical inneture. He said that Ulster had lent a beining hand to the Irish Free State. These factors would cause peace in Ireland and the whole of the Empire. the value of which it was impossible to over-estimate. It is hoped that with the co-operation of the North and South, measures would be taken to restore order in Belfast. If successful this would enormously strengthen Irish sentiment in favour of the Treaty. Our obligations and pledges towards Ulster were, there-

Referring to the House of Lords amond-ments, he said the Government was unable to consent to the slightest alteration in the Treaty, because alteration would be used by enemies to confuse the issue and to misland public opinion. He made the exception that he agreed to the. amendment regarding the time given to Ulster to exercise sky option of joining the Free State. He deprecated any undue elation, saying that there was a long period of anxiety and uncertainty ahead. He felt corndent of the good faith and goodwill of the Irish signatories, but less confident of their power to carry out their wishes against deadly fees.

CHINESE BRIGANDS.

Ringoon, March 31st. Further details are to hand as to the collision between Chinese brigands and a British punitage force, reported yesterday. About 500 brigands, led by Prince Wuntha, a member of the Burmese ex-Royal House, attacked and burned the house of the American Bantist missionary at Namkhar. They also sacked the village of Mass and murdered the villagers. Wunthu proclaimed himself King of Branen and said he had come to arnex Burmah from the British. The rebels were dispresed after fierce fighting and Munthu was captured. Three military police were killed. "

Pending the appointment of a succesor to fill the place left vacant by the death of Sir Everard Fraser. Mr. C. F. Garson has been named acting Consul-General for Great Britain. The appointment will be made by the British Foreign Office on recommendation of Sir Beilby Alston / British Minister, says the China Press. Two men are prominently mentioned for the post. Dr. J. W. Jamieson now British Cor sul-General at Canton, who served in Shanghai while Sir Everant Fraser was on leave and whose excellent work in connection with the settlement of the Hongkong strike brought him into prominence, is considered a likely appointed. H.H. Goffe, Consul-General at Hankow, is also mentioned as a possible. It will be remembered that Sir Everand came to Shanghai from Hanking. Another change in the Consulate staff caused by the death of the Consul-General, is the appointment of Assistant Consul I. P. Brenes to Actice Consul taking Mr. Garatie's

3RD ROUND.

Gnr. Barker (R.G.A.) stopped Sto. Anderson (Light Cruisers) in this oneeided bout. It was a gruelling bout for Anderson. Barker was early aggressive in the first round and soon Colony.had his man in difficulties. Anderson took counts of 1, 1, 3, 8, 8, 5 and 4, and although very groggy refused to give in. He had to be helped to his stool at the gong. He again took counts of 7, 8 and 3 in the second but very gamely came up for more punishment each time. In the third Barker had him down for 1, 6, 7, 8 and 7, but although obviously suffering he still refused to take the full count. His seconds had to throw in the towel to save him from further punishment. He was wildly cheered when leaving the ring.

Pte. Logan (King's) k.o. Gnr. Henwood (R.G.A.) in the second round. Henwood was on the run throughout the first round and was put out with the first really hard punch of the bout in the second.

LUGARD HALL

FIRTH ANNUAL DINNER.

The fifth annual dinner of Lugard Hall was held at the Hostel Common Room on Thursday at 8 p.m. The room was tastefully demrated for the necasion, and the beautiful lauterns added to the warmth of the function. The portrait of Sir Frederick Lugard. hung at the head of the hall, was flanked by the Union Jack and the Chinese Republican Flag. The various trophies won by the Hostel were displayed on the tables.

Amongst those present were the Vice-Chancellor (Sir William Brunyate), the Hon. Dr. Claud Severn, Sir Robert Ho Tung, Rev. Dr. T. W. Pearce. Dr. N. Tersdale Mackintosh and the Wardens and Representative students of the "other Hostels. The toasts of "The King" and "The President of China" were proposed by the Warden (Mr. M. H. Roffey). The Rev. Dr. Pearce then proposed the toast of the University, to which Sir William replied. Sir William assured the students of his satisfaction at the cheerful way in which they worked together during the strike. He congratulated the members of the Hostel upon their achievements in the field, and added that they were by no means handicapped in their studies as they had four out of the six King Edward VII. scholars with them and also two of the five President's scholars.

At the conclusion of the Vice-Chancellor's speech there followed a musical interlude in which Mr. V. F. Viccajee rendered a comple of violin solor, with Mr. Y. C. Teh at the piano. Dr. Teesdale Mackint sh then proposed the toast of the Hostel and entrusted with this duty for the third year in succession. He mentioned that the name of Lugard Hall was by no means unknown in Shanghai. He said he took a great interest in basketball and said be was glad to hear that Lugard Hall was about to win the Inter-Hostel Basketball Cup. He reminded the members of the Hostel that he had just received from England a parcel Brethers, the labouring classes have now absolutely become masters of the country. Don't you hate those not to punish them heavily? But, wages just enflicient to support Greys. Daily clearances are your existence, work like slaves 13 or 14 hours a day, grouning and allow yourselves to be robbed and coerced every day. Although you work hard the whole day, your have neither two different dishes for your meal nor decent clothes for 'you the time, are fed with wine and meat and dwell in magnificent houses. Brothers, whatever the capitalists possess is the surplus gained from your labours. The shamelessness and meanness of their dealing with you is a thousand times more than that of to bers and thieves. Do you not then hink to protect the interests of your own class and severely punish these cruel inhuman capitalists?

Brothers, you must know that the interests of capitalists and the interests of labourers are absolutely incompatible. As long as the capitalists hold sway, the right of personality will rever be granted to the labouring classes. Briefly speaking, where capitalists win, labourers fail; where labourers win, capitalists fail. Between the two classes there is no possibility for mediation or compromise. Really, it is the most foolish and ridiculous thing in the world for labourers to ask either lavours from capitalists or argue with them. Brothers, remember this, that you yourselves are the masters' who govern your own homes and country. Indeed, if you do not unite amongst yourselves, nobody can help you. you do not hold the affairs of your country and your home in your own hands, nobody will hold them for you. Brothers, it is because you want to have better living conditions that you demanded an increase in your pay. Your reason is extremely sound; and your actions are both extremely mild and peaceful. If there were any possibility for compromise between the interests of the apitalists and the labourers. your demands ought to have been granted immediately. Now, let me ask, how have the capitalists acted in dealing with you? At first they thought that you "poor penniless seamen could never hold out to the end, and that if they exerted a little patience you would have to give in. Therefore, at the beginning of the strike, they adopted a Fabian policy and refused your demands. Afterwards they found that the number of societies giving assistance to the seamen was daily increasing and that it was possible for you to hold longer than they expected. they immediately changed their marriage of Viscount Grey of Fallodon dilatory method in dealing you and violently brought high soon after Lent quietly in the country. pressure to bear upon you. ROUBLES.

RUSSO-ASIATIC BANK'S POSITION.

MANAGER'S STATEMENT.

Interviewed by a China Mail reporter regarding yesterday's leader on the subject of poubles, the Manager of the Russo A-intig Bank stated this morning that "the chief grievance appears to be that the Bank has Cotton Yarn.-The market has refused to recew rouble deposits. The object of a deposit is that a customer lends money to a bank at a preamanged rate of interest for a fixed period of time, the understanding being that the Bank is entitled to nec that money in the ordinary course of its business. It is obvious that as roubles are now at "waste paper prices" it is quite impossible for the Bank to make any use of them whatsoever in its business and therefore what object could they have in renewing them? Many of these deposits have been lying overdue for a year or more and it is therefore only with the object of simplifying their books that they have asked depositors to take delivery of their roubles, the option being that they can leave them in safe custody at a nominal charge. Depositors therefore have nothing to lose except of course interest in routles, which being at waste paper prices" practically amount to nothing As regards the profit of 100 per cent. mentioned, t is obvious, "said the Manager," if a bank sells roubles or any other currency unless they are speculating heavily they must cover immediately, or in the near future, by buying coubles, otherwise should the rouble have appreciated in value they would have sustained a heavy loss. Of course, if the bank knew that the rouble was bound to c.llapse they would naturally have waited before purchasing and made a profit of 100 per cent., but then how were they in the position to know considering that Russia was an unknown quantity even to the ablest diplomats in Europe. The position amounts to this. Supposing a customer approached

It is notorious that the stone of which the Palace of Westminster was built has weathered very mnevenly.

This is due to the fact that the s'one was not originally well chosen; serious geological faults exist in many of the most exposed pieces of ms onry, and rain and frost have done the rest. It is a common thing for a piece of
